1020 EXHIBITORS BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

Orangemen's Big Day Monday

The morning of Monday, the glorious Twelfth, was cloudy and threatening, and it was felt we were in for a big storm, but by the time the trains from the north and south steamed in the sky began to clear and there was every prospect of a fine, cool day. The depot was a busy spot on the arrival of the trains, as some five hundred Orangemen from Edmonton, Ponoka, Oliva, Lacombe, Innisfail, Bowden, Penhold and other points formed in procession, headed by bands and pipers, and to the sound of the fife and drum, and with banners flying, marched to the armories, where the Orange lodges had their headquarters for the day. The procession was headed by Right Worshipful Bro. J. Ardell, Grand Lecturer, on a white charger, while the streets were lined with interested spectators. At one o'clock the Lodges met on the city square, and formed into a procession, headed by the Marshal and the Citizens Band of Red Deer, Edmonton Pipe Band, Ponoka Brass Band, Piper Band from Innisfail, and fife and drum bands, and marched to the exhibition grounds, taking as their route, from the armories, up to Second St. North, west to Gast Avenue, and then south on Gast Avenue to First St. S., then east on First St. S. to Third Ave. E. and then south to the Fair grounds.

THE CITY OF VICTORIA

Parliament Bldg, Victoria

The charming city of Victoria, on Vancouver Island, the portal to the Pacific, the ocean gateway to the Orient, is one of the most favored spots in the world in beauty of situation, equality of climate and magnificence of scenery. Surrounded by water on three sides, the city is situated in a setting of low-lying wooded hills, in a foreground of the loveliest ranges of the Island Cascades. Across the Georgian Straits, the Olympian range is distinctly visible the crowning glory of the scene being Mount Baker, which lifts its dazzling cone in solitary splendor, to a height of 12,000 feet.

Victoria is recognized as possessing one of the finest climates in the world. The winters are very mild and the summers cool. In May and June Victoria is especially enchanting with the gardens of roses, hedges of laurel, bushes of sweet briar. In the stately groves, the air is laden with the pungent odor of the pines. The city is approached through a channel of wooded islands. On the left stretches the harbor, sheltering craft from all climes. Directly in front, behind a crescent-shaped embankment, the Empress hotel stands out from its surroundings of lawns and gardens. This stately C.P.R. hotel could not better have interpreted the character of the city.

Victoria is the new home-center for business of English folk, a reminder of the British Isles in Canada. Rockland avenue, with its lovely homes and enclosed gardens, is one of the most picturesque winding driveways in the city. To the tourist, Victoria is the gateway to the land of pleasure, for Vancouver Island is enticed by miles of excellent roads and pleasant scenes. There are many places of interest—the Dominion Experimental farm at Hazen Bay, the high explosives works at James Island; the big cement plant at Tod Inlet;

EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

Cattle
Beef prices are working still lower, and this week at Calgary there was another decline of nearly half a dollar on steers and cows showing even great reductions. Choice steers, from $10.50 to $11.25; good butchers, $10 to $10.50; choice cows, $8.50 to $9.25; good butchers, $7.25 to $8.25. Cattle below these grades are not taken for beef, and the feeders pay from $10.50 down for a very fair kind of beef steer; stocker and feeder cows are easier, and from $6 to $7.25. Stocker heifers, from $8 down, and steers from $8.50 down. Bulls are not coming in, and the market is from $6 down on them. Calves are holding about steady with the best of the weaners at $13. Cattle receipts were light, with some H.C. cattle on the market yesterday.

Beef steers and cows are selling lower at Edmonton during the week, with the steers quoted from $11 to $12 and the cows, which have shown the greatest reduction, are from $9 to $9.50 for the choice ones and $8 to $9 for the good butchers, but receipts of good beef cattle are light and market hard to determine. Indications are that steers and feeders will show more action soon, but present prices show feeder steers from $8 to $9.50; stocker steers from $6 to $8; stocker heifers, $7 to $8; stocker cows, $4 to $6.50. Bulls are lower, with the top prices $6.50, others from $11 down. There was a good sale of purebreds from the herd of Roberts Brothers, Vegreville, at the Edmonton yards on Thursday.

Hogs
Hogs are scarce at the Calgary yards, and prices have been holding steady around last week's sales. The offerings: Late morning were bought at $18.75.
Hog: at Edmonton have been very firm, and the price of last week was advanced on a few occasions, but sold back yesterday to the $18.50 mark again.

Horses
There was a little flurry in the horse market in Calgary last week-end, and a number of light horses were moved at varying prices. A few good teams brought satisfactory money, but there is a limited demand for them.

Sheep
Auctions held during last week showed some demand for sheep, and with better feed conditions the market for them should be fair. Swes and lambs were selling up to $13. Dry ewes sold for $11. Yearlings, $9 to $12. Very few butcher sheep coming on the market.

Grain
Prices during the week have been scaling down, chiefly owing to the favorable crop conditions. Alberta has had a remarkably good week, with rains through a lot of the southern and central portions where no rain was required and crops are making satisfactory progress. There is rye cutting at a number of points and other crops making good progress.

Produce
Milk production continues heavy, and prices are holding firm at last week's reduction on cream and milk. There is a lot of dairy butter coming on now and straight receipts are quoted from 35c to 40c. Creamery butter unchanged, with the best at 60c in cartons. Retailers report a brisk demand for dairy butter. Some live poultry is now being marketed, and with the variations in quality there has been some revision in prices, but hens are from 23c to 25c and roosters from 18c to 20c. Potatoes are rather scarce, and prices on good stock at country points are firm.

Wool
No market has yet developed on wool, and though some sales are being made at low prices, the general advice is to hold, for there are indications that the market will be better later on.

Hides
Prices on hides are unchanged, with green salted butcher hides 9c to 10c; fallen hides, 7c to 8c; all prices the same as last week.

WELL RECEIVED

(Calgary Herald.)

One thing particularly noticeable in connection with the promotion of Hon. Arthur Meighen to the premiership of the Dominion is the almost unanimous approval with which his selection has been noted by the press of the country, regardless of politics. Many Liberal papers, while saying unpleasant things about the Unionist party and even about the political work done by Mr. Meighen in connection therewith, agree that he is a worthy, deserving man, with a genius for hard work, and a reputation for personal probity that few men can claim in public life.

This unanimity of opinion concerning the personality and leadership qualifications of the new leader must be gratifying to him and heartening to the National party of which he has been made the head. It augurs well for the future of the party when the new man in the lead is admitted by friend and foe alike to be in every way superior. If Mr. Meighen lives up to these advance notices there is every probability that he will be premier of Canada for a good many years to come. Should he be all that the critics have said of him he is the man the Canadian people have been looking for.

BIG DROP IN TIMBER

There has at last come a change over the market, says a Vancouver exchange, so far as logs are concerned. In plain language the bottom has dropped out of it and logs are now going begging. Not so many weeks ago cedar logs were quoted as high as $40 a thousand feet. Today the same logs can be obtained at as low as $20, and in one instance it was stated that one of the most prominent sawmill men in the province made a big sale at $15.

It was inconceivable that the prices of logs could remain in the clouds, with the country almost ready for big deliveries of lumber and shingles. A few weeks ago, the loggers were asked to reduce. But economic conditions took control, and today, logs are being quoted at almost the price they were a year ago. It looks like the beginning of the end of the inflated prices, and it now only remains for the demand to become more pronounced, and more stable to bring market conditions back to what they should be from the point of view of orders.

Not a few of the sawmill operators are marking time to see what is to be the outcome of the present condition of affairs. Few, if any of them, have been doing much of late. Some of them have been talking a close-down for an indefinite period, but with the crop conditions, and the urgent necessity that exists for more houses all over the country, it is felt that before many weeks have passed, the demand will be much greater than it is now, or has been for some months. As a matter of fact, there is, as one of the operators expressed it, no log market today. Lumber manufacturers are buying where they can get the logs and that is almost anywhere, and, for the first time for many years, the lumberman practically is in the position of being able to say he will pay so much and no more. Just how long that will last remains to be seen. Once the real process of building construction starts throughout Canada and the United States, it is more than probable that there will be a different story to tell, but, meanwhile, logs have dropped and it would not be surprising if they continued to drop in price for at least the next thirty days.

The consumer need not think for a moment that this means tremendous reduction in the price of lumber. Prices have already fallen off, but there is still a considerable difference between the figures of today and those of eight months ago when more normal conditions prevailed, comparatively speaking. Eventually there may be some reductions, but nothing worth getting excited about. The ultimate result of all the fluctuations have taken place and the vicissitudes through which the lumber market has passed, is going to be higher than they were in pre-war days and that these rates will be maintained for the next five years.

W.C.C.A. PLAN IN LIGHT OF NATION'S DEBT

What Influx of 100,000 Farmers Would Mean in Actual Money.

"If the Western Canada Colonization Association settles 20,000,000 acres of idle arable land, it is probable that another 10,000,000 acres, suitable only for pasture, will be used for raising livestock. The value of such settlement will exceed the entire national debt of the Dominion." So said Mr. M. A. Brown, Provisional Chairman of the Western Canada Colonization Association, in a recent interview. Mr. Brown, who is mayor of Medicine Hat, added:

"In 1918, the farm production of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan was valued at $1,222,804,490, from some 30,397,416 acres under field crops and other lands suitable only for livestock. On the same basis, the idle acres which the Association aims to bring into use have a potential value of $70,000,000 per annum.

"Divided into 93,750 half-section farms, each of 320 acres, these lands would provide an opportunity for almost 100,000 more farmers, and for a total of at least 400,000 immigrants, counting men, women and children. "Settlers from the United States have been bringing in $400 for every man, woman and child. The average for immigrants from the British Isles and elsewhere would be considerably lower; even before the war British immigrants averaged at least $100; the amount now would be much higher.

"The immigrants sought by the association will be 'hand-picked' and will be from the United States and the British Isles, principally. Their average wealth may be placed conservatively at $300 each. This in itself means a total initial injection to the national wealth of something like $100,000,000.

"Such an influx of agricultural settlers would be accompanied by heavy immigration of artisans and other non-agriculturalists, with wealth of probably $500,000 more.

"The annual gross income per farm in Western Canada is now close to $4,500, including the value of products consumed by the farmers themselves. Allowing for a possible decrease in prices, the annual gross income per farm may safely be placed at not less than $3,500 for many years to come. Of this amount at least $1,000 is expended annually in purchases of goods, largely in local stores. One thousand dollars represents the value of products of the farm consumed by the farmer and his household, expenditures on vacations, etc., taxes and payments for personal services.

"Most of the remaining $1,000 is saved or invested. If the farm equipment or livestock be mortgaged, or if money is owing otherwise on loan, part of the income may be expended as interest, or in reduction of the principal amount of such mortgage or loan. But even such payments mean, for the most part, an addition to national wealth. Depreciation of machinery will be offset largely, if not entirely, by the purchase of new equipments or by farm betterments.

"At a conservative estimate, $1,000 probably would represent the average net production per farm, after deducting from the gross income expenditures of all kinds except the property chargeable to capital account. Then, too, of the $1,500 or more expended for goods, probably $300 would be saved by the producers, merchants or transportation interests, and would go to increase the total national capital.

In this way each farm would contribute $1,200 every year to increase the national wealth of the Dominion.

"For all the $2,750 new farms, the increase would amount to $112,500,000. But this would be the gain from the project in a single year. Canada would, in effect, receive from the settlement of these idle acres a perpetual increase in national wealth of $112,500,000. The present value of such perpetuity, reckoned at 6 per cent, is no less than $1,875,000,000.

Such business would provide employment for many more persons, and the actual net profits or savings would not be less than 3 per cent. This would represent an addition to the national wealth of $30,000,000 per annum in perpetuity. The present value of such perpetuity at 6 per cent, is $500,000,000.

The increase in national wealth which would result from the accomplishment of the aim of the Western Canada Colonization Association may, then, be summarized as follows:

New wealth brought by settlers	$100,000,000
Present net worth of new farm production in perpetuity	1,875,000,000
New capital attracted from abroad for industrial undertakings	75,000,000
Present worth of new wealth resulting from profits on handling new farm production	500,000,000
Total	$2,550,000,000

"Besides, there would be the wealth created by the thousands of new non-agricultural immigrants who would accompany the influx of farm settlers.

"In comparison, Canada's gross national debt is less than $3,000,000,000, and the net debt about $2,000,000,000. "Utilization of the idle lands of Western Canada in its value to Canada not only would offset the entire net debt of the Dominion but would leave a surplus of more than half a billion dollars for development of the Dominion's natural resources."

TO MAKE YOUR ROOF MORE USEFUL

- One of the hardest jobs paint or stain can be given to do is to protect shingles.
- The roof of a house receives the greatest share of every climatic extreme—rain and snow lodge upon it, the sun beats at right angles most of the time it's shining.
- Shingles left unprotected have no chance against such conditions, and a poor stain helps them but little. In

Shingle Stain

We have a scientifically correct combination of creosote and linseed oils that really protects the shingles. It makes a roof more useful, because it makes the shingles last longer by preventing curling, cracking, and consequent leaks—while 20 soft, velvety, artistic colors make it wonderfully efficient in adding to the whole beauty of the building.

We would be glad to send you colour schemes for STEPHENS' Shingle Stains and House Paint. Ask for booklet.

Duke of Devonshire Keeps His Date

Canada is crowing over the exploits of a new Canadian Pacific Ocean Service liner, the Empress of France.

The Duke of Devonshire promised Sir Auckland Geddes, by cable, that he would preside at a dinner given to the new British Ambassador at Washington by the Canadian Club at the Prince's Restaurant, Piccadilly, London, England. The specific purpose of the Duke's visit, however, was to attend the wedding of his daughter, Lady Dorothy Cavendish, to Captain Harold MacMillan.

He was to sail on the Empress of France. Things looked bad at the start when the boat's schedule read "Sailing from St. John, N. B., March 13th." The 13 was a hoodoo number enough because a terrible gale set in with such fury that it was deemed inadvisable to delay the sailing twenty-four hours.

Capt. Cook, the commander, consulted by the Duke, gave a solemn promise, "Your Excellency will be in Liverpool at the appointed time on the stroke of the clock—if the ship's engines can manage it." Steam gauges were never so popular. Stokers were heroes. A spirit of adventure lightened the nerves of all on board. The Duke kept his date.

Just as an after-thought, the Hoodoo of the 13 tried to break the Duke's promise by hanging a dense fog over the Mersey, but by cautious navigation Capt. Cook brought his great vessel to anchor opposite the Prince's Landing Stage at Liverpool at six o'clock on the morning of March 22nd, the date and hour scheduled for its arrival.

Canadian and English Hot Springs

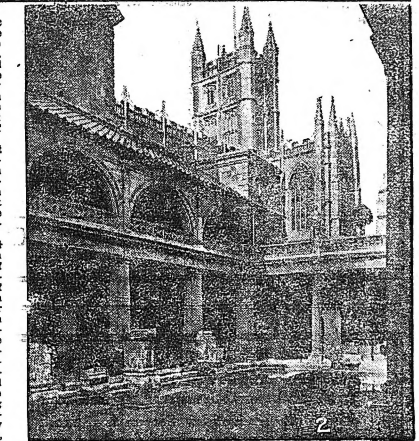

Recently the Canadian Pacific Railway film of the tour of the Prince of Wales in Canada was shown three times a day for three days at Bath, England. The mayor of the town and thousands of the residents of the town and district were exceedingly interested in those pictures, which not only showed the doings of his Royal Highness in the Dominion but also gave vivid details of many of the beautiful scenes of our country.

Those who have visited the hot sulphur springs at Bath in the Canadian Pacific booklet or the Hot Springs on the Arrow Lakes and derived beautiful benefit from them will be glad to learn something about the springs at Bath which are the only hot springs in the United Kingdom.

About the middle of 1755 the old Priory or medieval Abbey, which stood at the south-western corner of the existing Abbey at Bath, was pulled down to give place to a suite of baths for the Duke of Kingston. In removing the foundations, a number of stone coffins were found, and on digging further, the hot mineral water gushed forth and interrupted the work. The site being drained, Roman masonry was disclosed, and subsequently a number of baths and sitoratories. That there lay buried still further remains of what must have been an extensive Roman bathing system "indeed, were unmistakable." The rectangular bath, now commonly known as the Lucas bath, as uncovered, and at either end of a semi-circular deep bath, entered by seven steps. The sitoratories lay to the eastern side, together with a number of square baths and other apartments which apparently bathed used preparatory to entering the chambers. Some of these rooms were paved with flag stones, others were beautifully treated with various colored tesserae.

Excavations were not then pursued; other buildings were quickly erected over the site, and during the next hundred years no attention was given to the place. It was the year 1878 that marked the most important epoch in the recovery of the baths. Engineering works were at that time undertaken to remedy a leakage from the principal spring, and it was discovered at from this leakage the Kingston baths, then in private hands, derived the whole of their supply. Interruption ensued, but the Corporation entered their rights in respect to the water supply from the King's spring, and the draining of the site and other necessary works proceeded. It was then perceived that the foundations of a number of the modern houses rested upon what was little better than a morass, and Major Davis, to whose unwearied zeal and skilful excavation the city is so much indebted, found, after further exploration and careful tunnelling, that he had at last alighted upon the hidden treasures. Difficult and costly as was the subsequent work of uncovering these remains, the late Major Davis set himself with indomitable perseverance to push it forward. The facts that the baths were some 30 feet below the street level and that continuance of the excavations necessarily involved the demolition of much valuable property were serious considerations which all had their effect in retarding progress. Later on public interest increased and the houses were removed, the immense deposits of other ages carted away and the large area of Roman structures revealed. About 1878 when the great rectangular bath was opened up portions of the culvert of the outfall drain were discovered. In 1882 the hypocaust on the western side of the circular bath was discovered, in 1885 the circular bath itself; in 1889 the latrines and circular hypocaust; in 1891 the bath beneath the basement of the modern baths, and in 1896 another rectangular bath was excavated. That the builders of these baths were attracted into the valley by the hot springs about the middle of the first century, certainly not very long after the Romans first occupied Britain, we have fairly conclusive evidence. A coin of Claudius was found in such a position as to suggest to some authorities the theory that it might have been specially placed to commemorate the foundation of the baths. At any rate from the stones and altars dug up from time to time (one stone bears reference to a definite date A.D. 77-8), and the characteristics of a few of the sculptured remains, some vigorous occupation of Bath can be ascribed, with tolerable accuracy, to the last 30 or 40 years of the first century.

CALGARY YOUTHS IN TUXIS CAMP AT SYLVAN LAKE

Sylvan Lake, Alta., June 5.—The Saturday morning program opened with the second of Rev. G. A. Clarke's Bible studies on the Life of Christ. The subject of this interesting talk was "The Calling and Ordaining of the Disciples." He outlined briefly the life and character of each disciple. This was followed by a very interesting talk on the characteristics and needs of Tuxis boys, ages 15-17, and the problems of leadership. The talk was very interesting, and as each boy applied it to his own individual case, he found that he was no exception to the general rule.

The morning program was concluded with the usual discussion led by Rev. W. E. Galloway, on the practical side of the C.B.E.T. work. The boys of Central Methodist church, Calgary, illustrated the complete initiation ceremony of a Tuxis boy. This was followed by the issuing of self-analysis blanks, in which a great many questions were answered by each boy. The object of these was to show a boy's outstanding characteristics, in order that he might be guided in choosing his life career. G. R. Jackson gave his usual instructions in life-saving.

Mr. Forgie's lecture on "The Essentials in Camp Life," opened the afternoon program. The volley ball score was as follows: Group A, 15; group B, 8; group C, 15; group C, 13.

The most interesting feature of the afternoon was the Tuxis athletic tournament between the different groups. There was keen competition in the preliminaries, but group C managed to carry off the honors in six out of eight events.

The baseball games were followed by a stunt program, in which a great many very interesting stories were told by the boys and the leaders of the camp. This was followed by singing, led by Frank Paulding, and the evening program was brought to a close by the singing of the Omaha tribal prayer.

BENALTO

Mr. Freed, of Camrose, has been appointed C.P.R. station agent here and entered upon his duties July 1. The people of the district appreciate very much this appointment, as an agent was recently needed owing to the heavy freight and traffic business transacted at this point.

Miss Laycock, of Ponoka, was the guest of her sister here during the past week.

Mr. J. Trust has been appointed the local agent for Campbell & Griffin at their cream shipping depot here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Warwick were recent visitors at Red Deer.

Mr. R. McArthur has disposed of one of his farms through Messrs. Jenkins & Warren, to a party from Iowa.

Mr. John Hecla's little boy had the misfortune to cut off part of his hand while playing with an axe.

Mr. Gust Hill has disposed of his farm, and is holding an auction sale of stock and implements on July 15. Gust is another of the old timers who have made good in the district and retired for a well earned rest.

Messrs. Jenkins & Warren held a very successful sale of livestock and implements in town on Saturday. They promise making these sales monthly, the next being July 31. This is a great accommodation to the people of the district who have stock or implements for sale, to bring it to town and, in combination with others, make a good large sale that will interest buyers from a large territory.

Messrs. R. Black and R. McArthur were both visited with misfortune in losing their respective dwellings in fire. Mr. Black sustained a total loss as the building and contents were not insured. Mr. McArthur's loss was partially covered by insurance.

The Benalto I.P.A. held a very enthusiastic meeting Monday evening. Visitors were present from the Markerville local and a very enjoyable evening was spent in discussing the different issues affecting co-operative dairying. Mr. Olsen, of Markerville, gave a splendid address, showing the advisability of the farmers owning their own stores. The Benalto local, in conjunction with the Markerville local, have ordered a car of binder twine for immediate shipment and all twine for twine left with the secretaries of Benalto or Markerville locals will be looked after, and those wishing to take advantage of purchasing their twine in this manner are advised to send in their orders as soon as possible.

The committee in charge of the Benalto Fair are busy with the preparations for the coming fair, July 20-21. The entries are starting to come in already, and the prospects are good for one of the best country fairs in the west. The committee are anxious to have their best to make this show a success, and trust the best prospects their town will not be in vain.

ROCKY MOUNT'N HOUSE

July 5th, 1920

Adam Robb has returned from a pleasant visit with relatives and friends at Portland, Oregon.

Thos. Dalgleish spent the last of July with his parents at Red Deer.

On Wednesday afternoon last, Mr. Vanduzee, of the village, had the misfortune of having a fine team of grade horses killed by a car on the Saskatchewan river. Mr. Vanduzee was waving gravel from the car on the river for building purposes in the village, and crossing the ferry with a team and load were a little too far forward on the ferry, and when in mid-stream the ferry took a slight tilt, no doubt on account of the high water at the present time. This caused the load to move forward and the team became unmanageable and crowded through the end bars into the river, and on account of being hampered with harness and attached to a heavy loaded wagon, had no chance whatever of swimming and were soon drowned. The loss is a heavy one, and it is generally thought that the Government should have part of it, as the ferry is not in proper shape since being in the ice jam last fall.

The picnic and sports on July 1 under the auspices of the Agricultural Society, was without a doubt the biggest day of fun ever held in the vicinity. The picnic was held in the best of weather, and the day was kept things warm and dry so that a hard working committee had no doubt of the success of the picnic. The first thing on the programme, was a fine, and much larger, dinner could well have been proud of it. The floats and decorated rigs were well got up and showed much thought and time spent. The prizes in this were awarded as follows: Groups (historic), school children representing the different provinces. Groups (comic) the Coon band, Singers (historic) Mrs. J. H. Bertrand, representing a square dance group (comic) B. W. Allen, representing an Irishman. We cannot give a full account of the various races and games, but the picnic was a most successful one, and the excellent lunch served by the ladies especially looked very sweet in their summer dresses. The violin competition was won by F. Stewart; the bucking contest by Mr. Gray and Harold Yager; the tug-of-war was won by the team from the village. The dance in the evening was also a great success in the large exhibition hall, the best of music being furnished by Messrs. Herbert, Allen, Milnes and Anderson, and the society are to be congratulated on patronizing local talent and keeping the money at home.

The board of directors can well be proud of the day, and the work and time spent in connection with it. The picnic must not forget that one of our enterprising merchants, J. H. Killick, gave a great deal of assistance and a helping hand which was much appreciated by the committee.

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN

CANADA'S PREMIER

Entrusted to Form Government and Head New Liberal-Conservative Party

Ottawa, Ont., July 8.—The long and exciting contest for the succession to the premiership was finally settled at 1:30 o'clock tonight, when Hon. Arthur Meighen was re-elected to the office of prime minister by Sir Robert Borden as a fit and proper person to form a government. On Saturday, Sir Robert and his colleagues will formally resign, and the new prime minister will undertake the task of forming a government. The official assurance is given that "He has the undivided support of his colleagues who remain in the government." This includes all the members of the present cabinet with the exception of Hon. N. W. Rowell, who is expected to return to private practice, and of Hon. Martin Burrell, who becomes librarian of parliament, a position carried with it a salary of six thousand dollars a year. There may be further resignations later on.

The resignation of Sir Robert Borden was tendered to his colleagues on Saturday night, and he seemed to have thrown a great burden from his shoulders. The statement made by him to the press was a fitting tribute to the human touch that has made him so popular. The statement which Sir Robert handed out at the request of his colleagues, and as coming from him, was as follows:

THE NEWS WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. G. D. Armstrong

Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.—Matt. 25: 40.

Our text is taken from one of the most impressive word-pictures that came from the mind of Jesus. Some will find in this picture a prediction of a specific judgment day, a prophecy to be literally fulfilled. Others, no less reverent, will find in it a philosophy of social relationship and an inimitable expression of the law of love, which is essential in Christianity.

Whatever may be our interpretation of this teaching of Jesus and of its bearing upon the question of future conditions, it will be unfortunate, if in our speculation as to when and how the judgment of the nation is to take place, we should fail to give due heed to the inclusive moral teaching which is here presented. A man's attitude toward his fellow men, and especially toward those less favorably situated than himself, is the true index of his character and of his fitness for the enjoyment of heaven.

The striking difference between Christianity and other religion lies in its unfailing regard for the interests of the weak and helpless. The principle of justice, upon which all religion and all civilization rests, ordinary harmonizes with the law of the survival of the fittest and the service of the weak for the strong.

In Christianity the law of love transcends the primeval law of the fittest. The revolutionary principle of the service of the weak by the strong, "We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves."

The Christian character will express itself in its service to the weak, in its love for those who wear good clothes; but in a spirit of compromise which would sacrifice principle for popularity; but in a courteous and unselfish regard for the personality of others which would make us anxious to serve our fellowmen. The need of cultivating the grace of kindness which will lead us to take a keen personal interest in the sick, the poor and the criminal, is obviously a duty, which no thoughtful follower of Jesus will neglect.

At the same time it is true that very many of our charitable institutions, rescue homes, etc., are as truly a reproach to our religion as they are a vindication of it. Our motive to redeem and to save is right, but our mendacity but our failure to prevent poverty, sickness and crime is an evidence of our spiritual blindness, an almost criminal neglect of our social duties.

We must not only convert the individual but we must also reform the state and christianize the whole social life of mankind. A charitable spirit is no substitute for the social relationship which adopts effective measures for the conservation of health, the production of the necessities of life and their equitable distribution, and most of all for the moral and spiritual welfare of all who are associated with us in life.

There is all too much justification for a criticism made recently to the writer by a member of another profession that church people go to prayer meeting to pray that they may be fitted to do good to others, and then go to bed, with their consciences relieved by their spiritual exercise, instead of actually doing things in a practical way to help their fellow men.

Society undoubtedly glorifies in a lavish display and too often lacks the real spirit of loyal friendship and helpfulness.

The church too often is handicapped by its own organization, and its efforts are to often superficial and futile.

The world will not be saved by a religious organization whose piety ends in mere words, much less will it be saved by those who do not identify themselves with organized religion and whose spirit degenerates with futile cynicism.

The spirit of service and of sacrifice should dominate the activities of all citizens. In expressing this spirit, with all its shortcomings, the church is far in advance of mankind. It has led the way in the lines of progress and has instituted many organizations which now are widely separated from the church itself. It is neither reasonable or just that the church should be given the responsibility of providing education, or entertainment for the community.

We have in this province a number of church schools doing excellent work. They should be properly maintained by the state. "Private individuals or organizations may well forward new movements to alleviate distress or to promote the general welfare; but as soon as their work is demonstrated and the common sense shown, the general public should assume the responsibility of carrying on these enterprises. There is food for thought in a statement made by Theodore Roosevelt, "Unless the country is made a great place for us all to live in, it won't be a good place for any of us to live in."

The words of our text have a distinct message for those who fail to recognize the relation of social service to religious worship. Jesus here very clearly teaches that the service of mankind is linked up with the worship of God. "Religion will lose its vitality if it leads men to neglect their ordinary duties as citizens." To those who may find little in human conditions to arouse interest, by identifying themselves with the real business of Christ, which is a real basis upon which to reverence human personality and an unfailing incentive to work for the common good. "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them."

HOME RULE BILL MAY BE REVISED

ALONG LINE OF DOMINION

London, July 7.—Although the house of lords has for a moment turned aside from Lord Montagu's bill establishing Ireland as a fully equipped dominion, this method of solving the Irish question continues to excite much attention. The government's Home Rule Bill is now hung up until autumn and its revision along dominion lines is a probability in the near future.

NEW FACTOR EMERGES

This development is made more probable by a totally new factor emerging in Ireland. Lord Montagu states this fact as follows: "Far more significant than the spectacular display of police barracks, the kidnapping of generals, or even the sporadic and intermittent railway strikes, is the recent desertion of the king's courts by their police. Sinn Féin courts are steadily extending their jurisdiction and dispensing justice between man and man, Catholic and Protestant, farmer and shopkeeper, grazier and cattle driver, landlord and tenant. Sinn Féin police are arresting burglars, punishing cattle drivers, patrolling streets, controlling drink traffic, applying in some cases with the acquiescence of local military authorities."

Lord Montagu urges that this development shows the growing and remarkable capacity of the Irish people for self government. "The Sinn Féin won't come to Westminster, or won't negotiate with the government, but with a dominion once given, not merely promised or offered, Sinn Féin would come to an Irish constituent assembly and negotiate there with the British government, which might then be in the proud position to keep united Ireland a willing partner in the British commonwealth."

ARMIES ABSORB POLAND

Country Regarded as "Going to the Dogs."

Antwerp, July 8.—James A. Given of Texas, formerly a captain in the 34th United States Engineers, and reported a prisoner of the Bolsheviks, arrived here today after two months in Poland. He left Warsaw on July 2. The political situation there is chaotic, and he regards the country as "going to the dogs." People are refusing to work or to let anyone help them.

He says "The country is threatened with complete absorption by the armies. The Polish armies show a fine spirit, but the divisions cannot stem the attack of the 52 Russian divisions led by a former general of the Czar."

The Poles feel alone and look for the support of the allied armies. And see none—but themselves abandoned in a military way even by the French.

President General Pilsudski is unpopular since the military reserves are blamed for the unsuccessful offensive against the Soviets. The feeling of being abandoned in

U.F.A. PICNIC AT SYLVAN LAKE

The U.F.A.s of Norma, Poplar Ridge and Crossroads had a great day at Sylvan Lake on Wednesday, especially the boys and girls. The way the youngsters took to the water was a caution. There was a generous programme of well-contested and amusing races, tug-of-war, a wheel of fortune, a shooting gallery, an Ant-Sully-for which the committee were indebted to the ingenious and enterprising French members—a generous tea, refreshments, a movie show and a dance, the latter put on by the Sylvan Lake Publicity Association. It is the intention of the locals to make this an annual affair, to be held the first week in July, probably about July 4.

The church too often is handicapped by its own organization, and its efforts are to often superficial and futile.

The following is the list of races:—

RECIAT BY PUPILS OF MME. LE SAUNIER

The closing recital given by the piano pupils of Mme. Le Saunier in the School Assembly Hall on Friday evening came fully up to it not beyond the very high standard of these recitals. All the pieces were interesting and the playing of the more advanced pupils was an artistic treat. The boys held up their end well with the girls. A pleasant variation was the singing of Miss Gwen Richards, which was much enjoyed.

The Chief End of School—

The rich old uncle from whom was hoped for, was visiting his niece, who had been telling him how dearly he should be loved and how much he should be getting on with his studies. "Well, Teddy," said Uncle Levin, upon the return of the little boy, "what do you do in school all day?" "Teddy pondered. "Well," he said gravely, "mostly I wait until it's time to go home."

SOVIET WILL NOW ACCEPT ANY TERMS

Spa, July 9.—The Russian Soviet government has accepted all the conditions laid down by Premier Lloyd George for a resumption of trade relations as a result of the conference in London, with Leonid Krassin, according to an announcement made in British circles here tonight.

EXPECTS PEACE ULTIMATELY

London, July 9.—The text of the note sent by M. Tchicherin, Russian foreign minister, accepting the principles laid down in the "called memorandum" (transmitted July 1, by the British Government), to M. Krassin as the basis of agreement between Russia and Great Britain, is given in a dispatch to the Herald from Christiania.

The note sets forth the Soviet government's belief that "the proposed pact will have to be considered as an armistice between Russia and Great Britain and shares the British government's expectation that this armistice will hasten the way to definitive peace."

"At the same time," adds the note, "the Soviet government protests against affirming, contrary to the real facts, relative to presumed attitude as by Soviet Russia upon the British empire. The Soviet government emphasises once more that she desires nothing but peace with Great Britain and that the absence of the same spirit on the other side was the only cause preventing it."
